PROUD TO BE AN INDIAN

India gives us countless reasons to be proud of our country. Its mesmerizing beauty encompassing various regions ranging from the snow clad Himalaya in the north and the sun kissed beaches in the south draw millions of tourists from all over the world. It is also the place of origin of many religions such as Hinduism, Jainism, Buddhism and Sikhism. This makes India a perfect example of unity in diversity. So let us try to know more about this amazing country of ours in a fun way.

TOURISM

We all have seen advertisements related to our 'Incredible India' highlighting the famous tourist destinations. Its mesmerizing beauty, famous historical monuments, popular tourist attractions make it one of the famous destinations for travelers and tourists.

Chose any city/state of your choice and make an itinerary for that place of four to five days. Do not forget to mention the important monuments and famous places. You can paste/draw pictures and road maps.

UNITY IN DIVERSITY

India is a home to people following different religions. It is a secular country where everyone is free to follow his or her religion. This harmonious confluence of various cultures and traditions gives us the message of unity in diversity. As a result of this many festivals are celebrated here throughout the year. This makes India the land of happiness and festivities. Make a collage depicting the various festivals celebrated in India reflecting its cultural diversity.

WHAT DO YOU LIKE THE MOST ABOUT YOUR COUNTRY

India is a country of various hues. For a food lover it has a vast variety of food items to offer. For an explorer it has numerous places to be explored. People fond of movies can proudly say that India produces the maximum number of movies every year. It is a haven for people seeking spirituality and peace of mind. The list of things India can offer to people can go on forever. But each one of us has a favorite. So here is an opportunity for you to tell us what you like the most about your country. You can express your ideas in the form of a poem (10-12 lines) / picture / or a story (150-180 words).

FUN FACTS

Did you know May 20 is celebrated as the Science Day in Switzerland because Dr. APJ Abdul Kalam visited the country on that day? Did you know India is the world's largest democracy with 1.2 billion people? Did you know besides the USA and Japan India is the only country in the world to have indigenously built a super computer?

You must be feeling really proud after knowing all this. The above mentioned facts are only a few facts out of many about India which can make any citizen proud of his/her country.

Find out more about your country and write ten more interesting facts about India which will give you more reasons to be happy about being an India citizen.

MOVIE REVIEW – KNOW YOUR DEFENCE FORCES

Many movies are produced in India every year. Some of them try to reflect the struggle of our armed forces while fighting for their nations. Some of the examples are BORDER, LAKSHAY, TUBELIGHT, LOC KARGIL and so on. Watch any movie on the Indian armed forces and write its review in 150-180 words.

WHAT CAN YOU DO FOR YOUR COUNTRY?

A nation can never work smoothly unless its citizens work together for its development. As a young citizen what contributions you can make for India's better and brighter future. Express your ideas in the form of an essay of 150-180 words.

VOCABULARY

ENGLISH ASSIGNMENT

TERM 1 - STD 7

SECTION A - READING

1. Read the following passage carefully and complete the sentences that follow:

FORESTS

When most of us think of forests, we think of trees. True, trees are the most prominent form of life in a forest. But there's much more to a forest than the eye can see.

Each forest is a growing, changing community made up of many different plants and animals that interact with each other in a variety of ways.

Associated with trees are thousands of other kinds of plants - shrubs, vines, leaves. Herbs, ferns and mosses. These use trees for support, for shade and for moisture to grow. It is all the green plants that make food for the animals, birds, reptiles, amphibians and insects. These, in return, pollinate flowers, distribute seeds, aerate the soil and carry out many other important functions. Even fungi, bacteria and other microscopic organisms play a vital role in the forest. They break down plant and animal matter and turn it into a rich layer of soil called humus. Thus all are tied together in many ways - interdependent for food, living conditions and cooperation for survival.

The different kinds of plants in a forest make up layers or forest stores. The branches and leaves of the tallest trees make up the roof or the canopy. This is the food factory where photosynthesis takes place. Growing in the shadow under the canopy are the shorter trees and shrubs. These form the understory.

On the forest floor where it is darker and more humid grow the grasses, ferns, wild flowers, lichens and mosses. With the fallen leaves and rotting logs, these make up the forest floor.

Each layer has its own special set of residents - birds, animals, insects that find food and shelter there. Together they weave the rich tapestry of forest life.

1. A forest is an entity by itself because
2. Trees help other plants by
3. Green plants and animal and plant life perform reciprocal functions for one another by
4. Humus is formed when
5. The canopy is important because

2. Read the passage given below and answer the questions that follow :

Netaji was born at Cuttack in Orissa in a large upper middle class family of brothers and sisters. His father was a government official at Cuttack. Subhash was a very intelligent child and did extremely well in studies, always topping his class. He completed his higher studies in England, then applied for a job in the Indian Civil Services, and stood first. He had a great desire to serve his country so he resigned from the ICS within a year and became a freedom fighter.

A born leader, he was a man of daring schemes and unflinching determination.

In 1938, he became the President of the Indian National Congress, but his views clashed with those of Gandhiji. The rift between them widened and he resigned from the Congress and formed the Forward Bloc.

Subhash Chandra Bose ran away from his home in Calcutta, eluding the police and travelled to Afghanistan. He managed to reach Germany, then Japan. At that time World War II was at its height. In Malaya, he organized 60,000 strong Indian National Army to fight India's War of Independence from outside India. This was the first national army to hoist the Tricolour of India on free Manipur and Kohima.

He was reported dead on August 19, 1945.

Rumours spread that Subhash Chandra Bose was not actually dead, but no one could prove this for a fact.

 - f. Fighting the war of independence from Calcutta
 - g. Organizing the INA
 - h. the British leaving India.

3. Read the passage given below and answer the questions that follow:

Sailing Boats

Just as the kite will move upwards at an angle to the wind, so a well constructed sailing boat will move forward. No sailing ship that was ever built could move ahead against the wind but it can be propelled at an angle to the wind. It follows that if the wind be right ahead the sailor must resort to tacking, that is, he must pursue a zigzag course, sailing the boat a certain distance with the wind on side, and then turning and sailing her for a similar distance with the wind on the other side.

The boat is then said to be sailing close-hauled, because at this angle the sheets are hauled tight and the sails are close in to the boat. The sheet is not the sail, but the rope which controls it. If the boat's head is turned away from the wind the sheet is gradually slackened off until the boat is said to have the wind abeam. By turning her head further away, still slackening off the sheet, you may have the wind on the quarter. Finally, if you turn the remainder of the half-circle, you will be running ahead before the wind, with the boom of the sail as far out as it will go. At this point very careful steering is essential.

1. A sailing ship moves ahead only when
 - a. it is propelled at an angle to the wind
 - b. it is propelled at an angle against the wind
 - c. it is propelled into the wind
 - d. it is propelled by the wind movement

All the gold hidden in the sun
Could not buy the ease of a job well done
All the wealth that the banks possess
Could not buy the spirit of kindness.
All the stars in the heaven above
Are not fair exchange for a heart of love.
All the warmth in a tropical isle
Could not take the place of a welcome smile.
And all the wonders of ancient Rome
Could not buy the joy of a happy home.
Sign on for riches, or smile and be poor.
And gather what treasures are nearest your door.

1. Given below is the summary of the poem. Fill in the blanks with suitable words to complete the summary. Use only one word for each blank.

PARK

In the middle of the city
Is an open space called a Park;
It is difficult for us to do what we like there
Even after dark.
In the middle of the Park there is a statue,
A huge man made of stone;
We are not allowed to climb his legs or
Scribble on his trousers,

He has to be left alone.
In the middle of the grass there is some water
Surrounded by an asphalt path;
We are forbidden to fish or throw stones into it
Or swim or take a bath.

- Courtesy Olive Dehn

The poet describes an open space (a) _____ a park located in the (b) _____ of the city. The poet didn't have the (c) _____ to do what he liked there, although there was a stone statue of a man in the middle of the park, the children could not climb it or scribble on it. 2. Read the following passage carefully and complete the blanks given below:

THE CYCLE OF LIFE

Animals that give birth to young ones and suckle them are known as viviparous animals. Most viviparous animals are mammals. The young ones of mammals like cats, dogs or cows develop inside the mother's body. They are born fully developed. The mother feeds the young one and looks after the baby till the baby is able to lead an independent life. Human beings also give birth to young ones in the same manner.

Parental care is the process of looking after the eggs and the young ones till they are hatched and are able to lead an independent life. Certain fishes like sharks, snakes like vipers are viviparous. Vivipary is a device to protect the young ones. The eggs of some fishes are laid to special nests which are looked after by the male or female parent. The male seahorse incubates the eggs in its pouch situated in the lower part of its body. Birds also fly into and away from the nest feeding their babies. In the egg stage, the birds provide warmth to the eggs by sitting on them. Parental care reaches refinement in mammals. Human parents take care of their children well.

3. Read the passage given below and answer the questions that follow by choosing the answers from the given options:

THE WOODEN HORSE

There was a great feasting in the city of Troy that night. Sinon had told his story well, and the Trojans really believed that they were safe at last. Their long siege was ended, and, with their own eyes, they had seen the hated Greeks sail away. The walls had been broken, and the great wooden horse had been dragged into the city and placed before the temple of Athens. Now all the Trojans were lying in a heavy, dreamless sleep, and Sinon stole gently through the silent streets towards the high watch-tower. No guard was there: they were all sleeping or feasting still. Sinon lighted a great fire in the tower, and then made his way to the temple, to where the wooden horse shone white in the moonlight. He called in a low voice to the heroes inside, and they all came out, down the ladder which Epeus had built for them. Each man's heart beat loudly as he seized his weapons and made ready to attack the sleeping city. They ran to the doors of the nearest houses and began to burn and kill, and the rest of the army - returning in their ships - poured in through the break in the walls, and Troy was won.

1. There was feasting in the city of Troy because
 - a. Sinon had told his story well
 - b. the Trojans believed they were safe
 - c. the war had ended
 - d. none of the above
2. The great wooden horse had been dragged before _____

 - b. lighting a fire in the oven
 - c. lighting a fire in the hut
 - d. lighting a fire outside the temple
4. All the Greek heroes came out from
 - a. the ships
 - b. the boats
 - c. the wooden horse
 - d. behind the wooden horse
5. Troy was won because
 - a. of the clever planning of the Trojans
 - b. of the clever planning of the Greeks
 - c. of the foolishness of the Greeks
 - d. of the ladder built by Epeus

4. Read the poem and complete the summary given below:

FREEDOM

Freedom is the right to do
Anything that pleases you,
As long as you keep in sight
That others also have a right

Have you the right to kill a cat?
Oh no ! it's wrong, just consider that
The cat has the right to live like you
A right of eating and drinking too !

So remember that it's certainly wrong
To deprive a nightingale its song
To cheat the poor people, as rich men do
To rob the innocent, as robbers do

To injure someone to win a race
To despise some and others embrace

To disobey every order and rule
And drown a swimmer in the pool

And shout and scream like a fool
Disrespecting the teachers in the school.
So never forget that although you are free,
You should think of others, not only 'ME'.

Through this poem the poet says that one can enjoy freedom and do whatever pleases one, as long as what (a) _____ do is also respected. No one has the (b) _____ to kill a cat, as it too has the right to live. Similarly rich men should not cheat and rob people who are (c) _____. One must not be (d) _____ to gain in life. Although one is free, one should think of others too and not only about (e) _____.

5 Read the following passage carefully and answer the questions that follow with the help of the given options:

MOWGLI

After entering the wolf family, Mowgli spent many happy years with Mother and Father wolf and the four cubs. He was close to Mother Wolf and the oldest cub, Grey Brother with whom he played and hunted a lot. Father Wolf taught him the meaning of everything in the jungle. Mowgli learnt from him how to listen and observe. He recognized the rustle in the grass, the breath of the night air; he heard every note of the owls, every scratch of a bat's claws, and every splash of little fish jumping in the river. All this was very important to Mowgli if he was to survive in the jungle. When he was not learning, he sat out in the sun and slept, and ate and went to sleep again. When he felt dirty or hot, he swam in the forest pools and when he wanted honey or nuts he climbed up the trees for them.

He played and made friends with almost all the animals in the jungle. Mowgli grew up to be strong and agile. He could swim well, run fast, climb tall trees and swing from branch to branch. Baloo, the old bear taught him the laws of the jungle, and he was delighted to have such a clever pupil. Baloo adored Mowgli, but he was a strict teacher and he would sometimes smack him hard with his paws when Mowgli was naughty.

1. Who was Mowgli? Mowgli was
 - a. an animal
 - b. a wolf cub
 - c. a baby bear
 - d. a human being

2. Mowgli learnt to listen and observe because
 - e. He was a good student
 - f. There were rules of survival in the jungle
 - g. He was taught to do so
 - h. He hadn't taught these rules before

3. Mowgli was his own master because
 - i. he slept, ate, swam and sunned himself whenever he wanted
 - j. he did not listen to anyone

- k. he had to survive and live on his own rules
 - l. he slept, danced and sang whenever he wanted.
4. Mowgli adopted well to the jungle as
- m. he was taught by good teachers
 - n. he loved the jungle
 - o. he made friends with all the animals
 - p. he could swim, run, climb and swing from trees like other animals
5. Apart from Survival tricks, Mowgli learnt the following in the jungle:
- q. laws of gravity
 - r. laws of obedience
 - s. laws of the jungle
 - t. law and justice
