

Spreading smiles and warmth, promoting joy of giving

Godrej Ezee's annual woollens' collection drive held in partnership with HT-PACE has received great response from schools in Delhi-NCR

'This drive instils sense of sharing and caring'

■ DN Tiwari, principal, Laxman Public School, Hauz Khas

An initiative to donate warm clothes to the underprivileged children has been taken by with Godrej Ezee in collaboration with HT-PACE.

Laxman Public School, Hauz Khas, welcomed the move and the students have donated a large number of warm clothes. Principal DN Tiwari is of the idea that this initiative is inculcating a sense of sharing and caring in the young minds and this will take them a long way in life.

This is the fifth consecutive year that PACE has requested your school to participate in the woollen-collection drive organised by Godrej Ezee. What are your views about this activity?

This activity of woollen-collection drive in school is a very welcome initiative started by Godrej

PRESENTS

Ezee. We as individuals should be more considerate towards the 'have nots'. It should be our bounded moral duty to love and share, especially among the needy.

We, at Laxman Public School, sensitise our students towards social issues and instil in them the values of empathy and compassion. One of the practical lessons of this is learnt by a student from this initiative of 'Joy of Giving' and help spread a little bit of warmth in the hearts of both the giver and the receiver.

I congratulate Hindustan Times for igniting this spark and wish the programme a great success.

What has been the response from students this year?

This year the response from our students has been very positive and overwhelming. Students of all classes have enjoyed in donating their 'warm hug'. We feel privileged being a part of this initiative.
